

Dear Friends,

The Journal of the All India Institute of Speech and Hearing (JAIISH) is being published since 1970, It is now an online-only, free access journal. We recently released volume 40 of the journal. Encouraged by the excellent response it got, we are eager to bring out volume 41 of the journal.

We have strived to bring out the journal in time, publish high standard articles of contemporary relevance, and to get official recognition on the status of the journal. A major objective in front of us is to get the journal indexed in some of the major platforms, but a factor that seriously hinders our jest is the absence of manuscripts for publication. Researchers are not forthcoming to publish in JAIISH. Unless you publish, our standards cannot go up and unless our standards go up, we cannot get the journal indexed and get better visibility. I want to emphasize that you do not have to uplift Western standards and platforms all the time, but also consider within. Whatever are your reasons for your disinclination to publish in JAIISH, I appeal to your national pride to ensure that JAIISH flourishes.

I expect that volume 41 of the journal will come out by 31 March 2023. I am honored to request you to consider JAIISH for your next publication. Our website - www.jaiish.com - gives all the information you need about the journal.

Our endeavor is to make journal of AIISH a much sought after platform for professionals to share their research outcome, and I seek your cooperation to achieve this.
